

Email should be regarded with the same privacy as Postal mail. Does the FBI have the right to open my mail prior to delivery? I don't think so. Nor should they have the ability to read my email before delivery. The damnable PATRIOT act allows authorities to search premises and computer without notification. That should be enough. Thanks for allowing me to voice my opinion.